Body of Leroy Morris, Slain In Pittsburgh, Carried to Place It Was Found, Police Believe

Heers Without Clue to Identity of Slayer or to Motive.

MYSTERY MAN FIGURES

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—City detectives today continued their investigation into the death of Leroy Morris, a professor at the Allegheny national school whose body was found in a North Side park last night. The body was identified by a brother, William A. Morris, and will be shipped to a family home at Connellsville.

Few clues were left, according to detectives, for them to work on. They expressed the belief that Morris was shot and the body carried to the place of a fountain where it was found among rose bushes, the face up and the hands folded across the chest. No one in the vicinity heard a shot, the detectives said, and no clues were removed from the scene.

The bullet had burned the dead man's vest but there were no marks on his coat or overcoat, indicating, police say, that he had been shot in a close range and probably by a person who held a revolver in his right hand in order to hide the report.

The fact that $41 and a valuable watch were found in the victim's pockets, investigators assert, discounts the theory first advanced that Morris was a victim of highway robbery. Although there is a possibility that they have been killed by robbers, becoming frightened at the approach of other persons, accidentally fired the trigger of a gun with which they were threatening him.

One has been found who heard a shot fired, although the place where the body was found is close to Irwin Ridge avenue, both of which are usually thronged with churchgoers on Sunday night at the time a crime was committed.

Information concerning a mysterious stranger was given by Raymond Wetherell of 89 Knox avenue, an ex-convict, manager of the savings department of the Colonial Trust company. Mr. Wetherell has known dead men since boyhood and was intimately acquainted with him during his stay in Pittsburgh. Morris was his banking with Wetherell's name was in the habit of chatting moments with his friend whenever he went to the bank.

DANIEL WILLARD OPPOSES REPEAL OF NEW RAIL ACT

Proposed Legislation Would Lead to Complete Failure of Transportation
Law, He Declares.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and A. T. Thon, counsel for the National Association of Railway Executives, appeared today before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee in opposition to repealing legislation designed to repeal provisions of the transportation act which are said to curtail rate making authority of state commissions.

The proposed legislation, Mr. Willard said, would lead to "complete failure of the transportation act," which he commended as important constructive legislation which has not yet been given a fair trial.

Mr. Willard said the only alternative to the transportation act was government ownership.

The pending bill, he said, would prevent the railroad from securing sufficient funds to provide facilities of transportation demanded by the public.

"The result would be that the government would be forced to take over the railroads," said Mr. Willard. "Congress, by passing the transportation act, made possible the future success of private ownership."

The so-called six per cent guarantee of the transportation act was not unreasonable, Mr. Willard declared, inasmuch as the railroads were forced to pay seven per cent on borrowed money from private sources and six on government loans.

Escape of "Lucky" O'Connor on Eve of Death Held Frame-Up

By Associated Press.
CINCINNATI, Dec. 12.—"Lucky" Tommy O'Connor, gunman and killer, who was to have been led today to the death cell in the Ohio state penitentiary, escaped on Thursday night after a combined force of 5,000 police and deputies a merry chase after a sensational escape from the county jail.

Four jail guards were overpowered by O'Connor and four other prisoners, but O'Connor's reputation as a killer suffered when he failed to use a revolver which had been smuggled to him.

The jail break was characterized by Chief of Police Fitzmorris as a frame-up between O'Connor and jail officials and the chief ordered his men to bring O'Connor "dead or alive."

Searching inquiry will also be started by State's Attorney Crowe and Sheriff Peters. The sheriff suspended three guards and also offered a reward of $500 for the apprehension of O'Connor.

TWO THOUSAND IN PARTY

By Associated Press.
PITTSBURGH, Kan., Dec. 12.—A mob of women, estimated at 2,000, the wives and relatives of striking Kansas coal miners, adherents of Alexander Howat, stormed Mine No. 17 of the Jackson-Walker company early today and prevented miners employed there from returning to work. The women appeared to have no leader and principally were foreigners.

About 125 miners had been working at the Jackson-Walker shaft. Many have been going to the mine in their cars. An interurban railway passes the mine and other workers have been using it. Their Father Beat and Kicked
His Wife Before Ending
Her Life.

THREW WATER OVER HER

Before he fired the shot which caused her death the morning of December 1, Elmer Miller of near Vanderbilt beat and kicked his wife in a most brutal manner, his little son, Robert, eight years old, told a coroner's jury Saturday in Uniontown. His father, he said, beat his mother over the head with a poker and over the body with a broomstick. When she took refuge under a table he said his father kicked her and then threw a pail of dirty water over her. He also said his father caused a wound in her head from which blood flowed.

Jacob, 14 years old, and Daniel, 12, said they came in to the house between 3 and 6 o'clock in the morning after doing the chores and found their mother covered with blood. Later in the morning, about 7:30, when they returned after further outside work, they found their mother lying dead on the floor.

Submarine Question Next Big One for Delegates to Arms Conference to Tackle

PORK TRUST REVEALED AT SUNNYSIDE; 5,575 POUNDS OF MEAT THERE

Pig Feeding Contest Between Five
Families Results in Big Production.

Sunnyside, the home of "Colonel Jim" Barnhart, will have some rich eating this winter, and plenty of it. Today the colonel is relating how a pig feeding contest between five neighbors there has resulted in the production of 1,512 pounds of pork. This doesn't include 663 pounds in three seven-month-old pigs raised by Jim himself.

When Joseph McGee set out to beat everyone on the hill, the challenge was accepted. Five persons live within 400 feet of one another along the road at Sunnyside, and it is in that radius that the 12 hogs, with their great weight have been raised. Colonel Barnhart says he never heard of such a record before.

Hugh D. Barnhart has two hogs, one of which weighs 524 pounds and the other 490 pounds. Joseph McGee's products weigh 478 and 419 pounds apiece. William McDowell has two, one weighing 413 and the other 365 pounds. The total weight of four raised by John Barnhart is 1,514 pounds, and two by Sebastian Seese have a total of 775 pounds.

As Mr. Barnhart lives close by, the addition of 663 pounds of meat on his place makes the total of Sunnyside's pork crop 5,575 pounds. "Colonel" Jim is contemplating changing the name to "Pork Center." He estimates that were all the men made into pigs it would cover a distance of 33 miles.

OTHERS NEAR SETTLEMENT

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Submarine promises to present to arms conference with its next big issue. On all the other major subjects the delegates professed today to see a prospect of early solution but the question of whether submarines are to be included in quantity in the fleets of the future is a developing widely divergent opinions.

The problem of naval rats, fortification of the Pacific and the naval holiday while all open questions are regarded more or less bound up together and the settlement in the near future is said to have been facilitated by the new agreement of the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France for preserving peace in the Pacific. Further advances from Tokyo and further conferences of the naval "big three" are in prospect but no one appears to believe a solution will be difficult. The Far Eastern negotiations are also described as proceeding satisfactorily with a sentiment developing in some quarters to make the final accomplishment of the conference in that direction the basis of a formal nine-power treaty instead of a gentlemen's agreement or joint declaration of policy.

But the submarine problem has involved a question of whether undersea craft are to be considered as at all legitimate instruments of warfare is said to be delicate, to be entirely separate from all of these.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—All of the British delegates to the armament conference with the exception of Sir Auckland Geddes, British ambassador here, have arranged to sail for home December 31 on the steamer Clympe, feeling that the main issues of the conference will have been disposed of by that time.

Restaurant Hygiene Law to Be Strictly Enforced, Says Chief

HARRISBURG, Dec. 12.—Vigorous enforcement of the new law relative to cleanliness of establishments and persons handling food is under way by the division of restaurant hygiene of the Department of Health. The division has sent letters to all boards of health calling their attention to the uniform of the attorney general that "The law makes it the duty of the local board of health to enforce the laws of the commonwealth and the regulations of the Department of Health."

The restaurant hygiene law was amended by the last Legislature to include all public drinking places such as soda fountains and grocery stores dispensing soft drinks. It has been pointed out that the more dangerous drinking cups in a bucket of water does not come within the law. Hot water and soap must be used.

Chief J. M. Delaney said: "We are using every means to have this law obeyed for undoubtedly some of the diphtheria in Pennsylvania is being carried by use of the common drinking cup or by the individual cups not properly washed."

INGROWN TOE NAIL

TURNS OUT ITSELF

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrown nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

I was almost a nervous wreck, too, and for years I didn't know what it was to get a good sound sleep at night. I got new life and energy from each dose of Tanlac and now I'm a well and happy man instead of a sick and miserable one as I was for so many years. I'll vouch for the merit of Tanlac at any time."

INDIANS ARE DOOMED

Alaskan Tribes, Once Active, Fast Passing Away.

Many Hundreds of Them May Never Survive the Winter—Fishing Fails, Furs Are Cheap and Natives Gamble Proceeds.

Seattle, Wash.—The native Indians of Alaska are doomed. Many hundreds of them may never survive the winter just setting in along the islands of the Aleutian group and Bering sea. The fishing season was a failure, furs are very cheap and the natives gambled away what they did receive.

Once there was a time, many years ago, when the natives of Alaska were alone in the wilds of the north. They depended upon the fruits of the chase for sustenance and nature gave freely. Kingly moose, like, agile caribou, the great grizzly of the mountain slopes, black bear of the lowlands, fox, wolf, mink, otter and beaver, salmon and trout, all these fell to their lot, providing food and clothes. They lived happy, beautiful lives.

But now all is changed. The native is an object to be pitied. Their evolution has been slow but sure. The advent of the white man brought a curse to the untamed man of the forests, for the first traders to give them gambling, drink and the purchasing power of money. They were urged to leave their furs, fish and personal belongings for pieces of silver and cheap trinkets.

The natives are migratory and little preparation is made for winter, as it was formerly the custom to follow the caribou up and down the rivers. Firearms have added to reduce the number of wild animals once used for food and clothes. Besides, wild game is no longer useful. Game, meats, fruits, coffee, tea and sugar, candy and flour are now demanded by the remnants of tribes remaining. Disease and malnutrition are hurrying them to extinction.

Missions and government schools in scattered regions have attempted a rescue of small groups of natives and have fairly succeeded. The remainder stations have delivered other groups; but the majority of the Alaskan aborigines is rapidly decreasing. During the last ten years, according to the late census, more than 3,000 deaths were offset by 570 births.

CLOGGED BLOOD WITHERS THE BODY

Worker's Sick and Weak From Exhaustion Take Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

Men and women who toil, either physically or mentally, use up energy. When they overwork they use up more energy, and sometimes the blood gets in a run-down condition. Without rest the blood cannot get back to normal, so that it becomes clogged with waste matter from over-exertion.

The clogged blood virtually withers the body. The strained looks on pale faces, the thin, bloodless arms, the sunken cheeks and necks, the dead-dread feeling, are the results of stale blood depriving the system of life-giving oxygen.

Workers to the drug store and get Gude's Pepto-Mangan when they feel weak and run down. They take it in either liquid or the tablet form. That makes the blood rich and red and drives out the poisons. Life-giving oxygen, carried by the little red cells, renews the strength and builds up the entire system. Look for the name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" on the package.—Advertisement.

Belchikov Foreign Office and in Other Departments.

Moscow, Russia.—English, or rather American, has become the predominant foreign language in the bolshevik foreign office and in all government departments and in Moscow generally.

Fourteen thousand Russians or naturalized Americans of Russian origin, came to Russia when the revolution opened the doors for them. They streamed across Siberia for months and found their way to their old homes in the land of revolution.

The number of English-speaking persons has been swelled by deportations from America and by immigrants from Great Britain and its colonies who were interested in the experiments which the soviet government was working out.

Through their training abroad, most of these English-speaking persons were better equipped for government work than native Russians and have made their way into important places with the government in both Asiatic and European Russia.

Three years ago most of the Russians returned from America were extremely bitter in their denunciation of the United States. But they have modified. Their experience in helping to run a government has taught them it is not as easy as it looks.

They have changed, as the entire Red government has changed, and it is not unusual to hear them speak with affection of America. They look forward to America for help. Most of them insist that America is the only country which is broad enough in gauge to develop a country the size of Russia.

Almost without exception, the Russians who have been in America have the American child-feeding is an initial step toward recognition. They have ceased denouncing America as an "exploited" land. The floods of abuse are now poured out on France, Poland and Rumania. After the United States, Great Britain seems to be most in favor, with Germany a close third.

Language schools in Moscow have great demand for English lessons, and second-hand book stalls in the markets find a ready sale for English volumes.

Tornadoes Win Final Game; Linwood Club Is Victim; Score 22-0

Three Touchdowns and a Safety Count for Local Taffies.

HIGH SCHOOL IS VICTOR

Although not exhibiting their usual punch the Connellsville Tornadoes closed the 1931 football season Saturday with a decisive victory over the Linwood club of Pittsburgh. The score was 22-0. Connellsville had opportunities for more scores but simply lacked the drive to carry the ball over.

On receiving the ball the Tornadoes could make two or three first downs and then when within the shadow of the goal would lose it. The Cokers resisted to no open football whatever, all gains being made by straight slugging.

The first quarter passed scoreless after the Tornadoes had been within 15 yards of the final line. In the second period the locals made their first score on a safety. An attempt at a punt by Linwood was blocked and the ball rolled back over the goal line. A Linwood player fell on it and the Cokers earned two points.

The next score came shortly afterwards. Connellsville kicked off and held Linwood for downs. Again the punt was blocked, Captain Buttermore falling on it. It was carried over without a stop. Bufano failed to kick the goal.

Linwood started off strong at the opening of the second half but could not keep up steam enough to make holes in the Tornado line, which as usual was almost impenetrable.

Connellsville's score in the third quarter also came as the result of a blocked punt. The ball was recovered on the 25-yard line and the Tornadoes easily went across for a touchdown, exactly five plays being necessary. Pittman kicked the goal.

In the next period the Tornadoes played some good football. Gaining possession of the pigskin the team marched straight toward a touchdown, line plunging by C. White in the final distance making the score possible. C. White had the knack of just making the necessary distances for first down Saturday. LaForte kicked the goal after White had crossed the line.

Linwood threatened to score at only one time. In the last quarter Connellsville attempted a lateral pass. The ball was fumbled and the visitors recovered. The ball was on Connellsville's 20-yard line. On the first play the Tornadoes were offside and were penalized five yards. Then the Linwood pluggers made a first two and the ball lay within four yards of a touchdown.

At this point the Tornado line showed what it possessed in the way of strength. In two rushes the ball did not move forward an inch. On the third down Linwood lost a yard. On a final desperate effort a forward pass was tried only to be grounded by a kick of the goal line.

High School Wins First Floor Game

The Connellsville high school basketball team opened its pre-holiday season Saturday with a victory over the Mount Pleasant High quintet. The score was 50-34. The visiting team made only three field goals during the whole game, fouls bringing their score to the 30 mark.

Had the visitors had a quintet to shoot from the floor the decision might have rested between Bobbs and Solson, foul tossers. Both did very well, the former getting 28 out of 33 and the local youth 28 out of 31.

All 10 men in uniform were given an opportunity and the visitors really faced two complete teams.

FAYETTE CITY FANS CONFIDENT KING CAN WIN

The criticism that Matchmaker Duke Barry is receiving for signing Johnny King to the Fayette City youth to meet Johnny Warr, the McKeesport slugger, in the 10-round star bout next Friday night at St. Louis has entirely unaltered in the opinion of King's Fayette City supporters. Tommy Pedano, who manages the "wonder boy of the Mon Valley" states he is ready to back up his statements that King will not only be there at the finish but will receive the popular decision.

No contest arranged so far this season has aroused so much interest as the King-Warr bout. Fans are divided as to King's ability to defeat the slugger, tactics of the Fayette City while others give the visitor a victory by a wide margin.

Barry announces that he has signed his opening bout of six rounds. This will bring a new race to the club in the person of Mike Pasquale of Dunbar, crashing with Julie Schlinger, the Baltimore & Ohio railroad fireman. Pasquale is rated a hard fighting "woop" who in hold his own with the best of them. Schlinger's first start at the club was not very impressive but he claims this was due to "stage fright" and that he will give a better account of himself Friday night.

AUSTRALIAN BOXER IS STAR

Archie Bradley of Gympie, Queensland, Lightweight of Class, Has Been Unearthed.

A new lightweight sensation has been unearthed in Australia according to the latest dope from the land of the kangaroo. Archie Bradley, of Gympie, Queensland is the name of the new star and he stands 5 feet 5 1/2 inches in height with a reach of 7 1/2 inches. He must have some class as he recently defeated Sid Godfrey, the new Australian lightweight champion, in a 20-round battle at Brisbane. This was before Godfrey met and defeated Lew Edwards and Harry Stone for the title. Bradley, according to reports, is a clever boxer and had it all over Godfrey from start to finish. He is just about the same height as Pinkie Mitchell, of Milwaukee and with a reach just as long. He scales just 135 pounds so there is a chance of the Queensland boy taking the title from Mr. Godfrey if they meet in the near future.

Actors From France.

Americans have to doff the derby to Georges Carpentier and Suzanne Lenglen.

They out-act us. They were born for the stage but gave the football game the double cross. When Carpentier stood that 90,000-odd gathering at Jersey city, he smiled, he pantomimed, he acted with the finish of a Barrymore.

When Suzanne skipped onto our tennis courts for the first time at Forest Hills, she too danced herself into everybody's heart.

Georges lasted four rounds. Suzanne—well, she had a break of tough luck.

SCHMIDT OF PIRATES STAR OF MANY YEARS

Backstop Receives Few Plaudits, but Plays Great Game.

Pittsburgher is Remarkable Thrower and is One of the Fastest Catchers in National League—Surpasses Killifer.

Publicity is given to many star ball players in the National league but there are also many great athletes who are overlooked. One of them is Catcher Schmidt, who is with the Pittsburgh club. He has been a star in the National league for several seasons, but little has been heard about his true ability. Ball players of the first class have received more attention than he has because they are given to sensationalism on the field. The Schmidt contents himself with playing steadily and the end result is he knows how, writes Oscar Reicher in the Chicago News.

Schmidt is much like Charley Deal of the Cubs. These two men are ball players and not actors. They are the best. Yet they are not boasted to the skies like Eddie Roth, Rogers Hornsby, Heinie Groh, Walter Marquardt, Max Carey, Charlie Keller, Bill Killifer and Grover Alexander. All these players deserve to be praised because they possess merit of an unusual degree. It is doubtful though if any one is more prudent than his position. An Schmidt and Deal are at the top. Deal goes along day in and day out playing the same steady brand of baseball. He does not do acrobatic feats in making stops of hot grounders as does Heinie Groh but gets in front of the mad boppers with ease and grace because he is an excellent judge of a batted ball and plays accordingly.

Schmidt is not only possessed of real baseball intelligence, but he is a remarkable thrower. He plays the game with a great deal of intuition, has a wonderful aim and is a fast back stop in the league. Considering his throwing ability, speed and hitting, it would not be unfair to say that he is now the toughest catcher of them all. He surpasses Killifer in all these departments which is something that demands consideration. The latter because of his experience has earned more behind the plate and in handling pitchers, is still regarded as the leader.

The St. Louis Cardinals believe they may have another outfielder as good as Charley Mitchell has developed into a home boy named Earl Suggs.

Lieut. Elmer Oliphant, famous West Point football player of a few years ago, will lead the New York basketball team this season. Oliphant is considered one of the most capable forwards in the East.

NEW MICROBE IS FOE OF DISEASE

French Doctor Makes Important
Scientific Discovery.

WILL BE AID IN EPIDEMICS

Ultramicrobe is Parasite on Bacteria and Effects Cure of Such Diseases as Dysentery, Typhoid Fever, Hemorrhagic Septicemia and Bubonic Plague—Added to Drinking Water It Would Play an Important Part in the Control of Epidemics.

The discovery of an ultramicrobe, which is a parasite on bacteria, and which effects a cure of such diseases as dysentery, typhoid fever, hemorrhagic septicemia and bubonic plague, has been announced by Dr. P. d'Hérelle of the Pasteur Institute of Paris.

This powerful, minute organism will be able to play an important part in control of epidemics, according to Dr. d'Hérelle. He has been able to make men, buffaloes and birds resistant to various diseases by simply introducing into them the ultramicrobe which had become accustomed to preying upon the particular bacterium that causes the disease.

All that would be necessary to stop an epidemic of some disease, typhoid for instance, would be to pour into the drinking water supply a very small amount of the proper strain of the ultramicrobe, Dr. d'Hérelle declares.

This would infect all of the people with the harmless bacteriophage, which would then predate upon the disease-producing ultramicrobe which will protect them and prevent an epidemic. The ultramicrobe is tasteless and for all animals and man it is absolutely harmless, Dr. d'Hérelle has found by experience.

This wonderful parasitic ultramicrobe has been named the "bacteriophage" or bacteria-eater by Dr. d'Hérelle.

Brought to mind by this new discovery is Dean Swift's often-repeated quotation:

"So naturalists observe a flea
Has smaller fleas that on him prey,
And these have smaller still to bite 'em,
And so proceed ad infinitum."

Exhaustive Researches.

Before announcing his work on the bacteriophage, Dr. d'Hérelle has made exhaustive researches into the nature of this ultramicrobe which seems to hold the possibilities of revolutionizing ideas in medicine and biology.

Dr. d'Hérelle explains the action of the bacteriophage as follows:

"Take the case of bacillus dysentery. If a sample of the feces of the patient is taken, mixed with bouillon, and then passed through a Chamberland filter, all of the microbes visible under the microscope will be retained in the fine pores of the porcelain filter and the filtrate or the liquid that passes through will be clear, will remain so indefinitely and is in appearance sterile. Suppose that a case of dysentery is followed during its course and that such a filtrate is prepared for each of the 80 days of the illness. If 80 tubes of bouillon culture were prepared, and if a drop out of each of the 80 filtrates prepared each day were added to the corresponding numbered cultures, the following would be the result after 12 hours' incubation: Tubes 1 to 6, no change, cloudy with dysentery culture; tubes 7 to 18, perfectly clear; tubes 19 to 30, cloudy like the first six. A strange phenomenon has occurred in tubes 7 to 18 caused by the adding of the drop of filtrate. The bacilli have been dissolved. And at the same time that this dissolving began to take place the patient began to get well, and on the eighteenth day the cure was complete. The presence of the dissolving principle and the cure coincide. This has been found to be the case in other diseases, even those that are not intestinal in character.

And this principle that appears in the filtrate is thousands of times more powerful than the most energetic antiseptic known. A billionth part of a cubic centimeter of filtrate will dissolve a tubeful of dysentery bacilli. And unlike a chemical, the bacteriophages will multiply themselves over and over again. A mere trace of the liquid in the tube of dissolved bacilli will clear up another tube of culture, and if the process is continued a trace from the 80th tube will effectively cause the solution of the 1,000th culture.

But in the dissolved culture of bacilli there can be seen no microbes, even if the most powerful optical means are employed. In fact, the bacteriophages are so extremely small that Dr. d'Hérelle declares that without a doubt no human eye will ever be able to see them and determine their form even with the aid of any instrument that may be devised in the future. The volume of a bacteriophage is practically equal to that of a molecule of albumen. It is only by diluting a culture of bacteriophages many, many times, then adding a very small amount to a culture of bacilli and counting the spots where dissolving takes place, that the number of the bacteriophages in a given volume could be determined and that its role in nature could be discovered. By this method it was found that there are at least 2,500,000,000 bacteriophages per cubic centimeter.

Trained to Fight.

There is only one species of bacteriophage able to acclimate itself to parasitism on a very large number of species of bacteria. A strain active against one bacteria can be trained in a test tube to become virulent toward a totally different one.

The bacteriophage is, of necessity, a parasite that is not able to develop except by penetrating into the interior of a living bacterium, secreting a bacterial solvent, and then reproducing itself by feeding on the dissolved microbe. It then sends forth the young bacteriophages to prey upon other bacteria.

The normal habitat of the bacteriophage is the intestine and it has been found in the intestinal tracts of healthy animals, both vertebrate and invertebrate. But it can be introduced in the blood as well and act there. Whether the bacteriophages protect the animal or not depends upon whether or the strain present is virulent to the particular harmful and invading bacteria. In the case of the dysentery patient it took six days for the bacteriophages to become active. In fact, the history of a case of contagious disease is the reflection of the vicissitudes of the struggle engaged in within the animal or person by the pathogenic bacteria and the ultramicroscopic bacteriophages. But some bacteria, such as those that live in a healthy animal, are able to acquire an immunity to the bacteriophages, Dr. d'Hérelle has found.

The bacteriophage is transmitted in the same way as the harmful bacteria and an epidemic ends because all of the people have been infected by the bacteriophages and have become bacteriophage carriers.

Dr. d'Hérelle declares that his discoveries are not antagonistic to the fact that the white corpuscles of the blood provide a defense against bacterial disease, but that the bacteriophages act in the case of animals without natural immunity or that acquired by disease or vaccination.

A monograph of Pasteur Institute now in the process of printing will shortly be issued and will give a detailed scientific account of Dr. d'Hérelle's researches on the bacteriophages.

GOES TO PRISON FOR "BUDDY"

Haley's Sacrifice for Pal Butte When Trick Is Discovered at Leavenworth.

Leavenworth, Kan.—Pamphlet, Harry W. Haley, an over-seas war veteran, is at liberty here under a War department order releasing him from the federal disciplinary barracks, where he served five months of a six-month sentence for desertion imposed upon Thomas G. Jones, his "buddy," and the man who saved his life while the two men were with the American expeditionary forces in France. Haley came to the barracks under the name of "Jones." His reason for serving the sentence being that he wanted to repay part of the debt he felt he owed Jones in saving his life. Jones, who is said to be living in Canada, is being sought by federal authorities. Because he was not the real offender, Haley was released from the barracks without the usual railroad fare and small compensation given prisoners.

PIG IRON'S BASIC PRODUCTS

Metal Sold in Three Forms—Cast, Wrought and Steel—One of Most Valuable Minerals.

Iron is the most valuable metal in the world to man, because it is of more use in more ways.

It has been known to man from earliest times. Salvaged from the sea, it is generally found compounded with other substances such as carbon. These other substances have to be burned out in order to have pure iron.

Iron is sold in three forms—cast iron, wrought iron, and steel. Cast iron is brittle and hard, like the lid on the kitchen range. Wrought iron can be hammered out flat or made into wire or wheels. It is quite soft. Steel is also capable of being hammered out and welded. Its peculiar property is that when tempered it becomes very hard—so hard that a sharp edge can be put on it—so hard that it will, when edged, cut wrought iron.

Iron which has been melted and poured into a mold in some form desired for use, such as part of a stove, is called cast iron. Iron which is cast roughly from the molten ore is called pig iron. It is done in a furnace in which the carbon is burned from the pig iron.

Puddling is the name of the process by which pig iron is made into wrought iron. It is done in a furnace in which the carbon is burned from the pig iron.

Pig iron contains the most carbon, then comes steel and then wrought iron.

Steel can be made directly from pig iron by what is known as the Bessemer and open-hearth processes. Formerly it was made from wrought iron.

A violent shakeup of the Pirates is planned and when next season rolls around familiar faces will be missing. The debacle of 1921 is the cause. After leading the National League since the greater part of the season, the team faltered in the stretch and the Giants romped home winners.

Former South Connelville Resident, Now of Rockwood, and Neighbor Farmers Bag Nine Deer, 110 Tons Folks at Former Home; Other News

SOUTH CONNELLSVILLE, Dec. 12—John Moore, former Connelville high school basketball star, has applied for the position of coach of the Capstan Athletic association basketball team, and in all probability will lead the floor quintet this season. Moore is a very capable man, having played a guard position on the high school team. The management of the team has not yet decided on the first game, but it probably will be with the Baltimore & Ohio Clerks the night of the 23rd. Following the game there will be a dance.

The gymnasium is large enough to seat 100 persons, this part being wired off from the rest of the floor.

At the Theatres

THE SOISSON.

"TASSION FRUIT," from the original story by Carey Wilson, the feature attraction at this theatre today, tomorrow and Wednesday, is a strong photoplay of pulsing conflict, love and hate, with Dorinda, known as queen of dancers, in the leading role. Dorinda is a creature of the little grace and beauty who has enthralled thousands upon thousands by her unique interpretative Hawaiian dances. She popularized many hula dances, and earned fabulous sums teaching the wealthy these dances. In this, her first Metro starring picture, she has wide scope for her tropical dance technique, for the picture begins with an assault to a girl at a country dance-ville performance, and comes to a climax when Dorinda, acting the part of Regina Dominant, is to dance one of her wildest dances to save the life of the man she loves. Here she enacts the extraordinary role of the fascinating Regina, the Hawaiian beauty, whose father has been poisoned by his plantation owner, Anders Rance. Rance hopes to win her, and the plantation. A wreck of an American, Pierce Lamont, is regenerated through Regina, and wins her after being at death's door, with thousands of wild natives shrieking for his sacrifice to the gods. Supporting Dorinda are the following notable actors: Edward Laine, known as "The O. Henry Man"; Stuart Holmes; Sidney Bracer; Florence Turner; and William Rainbridge. The picture was adapted from Carey Wilson's original story and scenarioized by Edward Lowe, Jr. John Ince directed. Rudolph Berquist photographed, and the

FURS MUST BE KEPT IN STYLE

Petty in Every Variety Follows the Fashion Dictates of the Season.

CARACUL NOTED FOR SERVICE

Popular Skin Makes Appearance in Almost All Ways; Squirrel Baby Lamb, Monkey, Fox, Seal, Among Favorites.

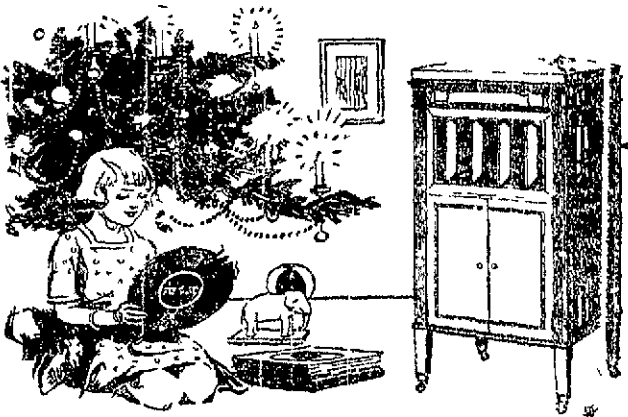

Furs lasting for years without repair, so often talked about, are all very well under certain circumstances, but when one views the changes in fashion in this department of women's attire, the possibilities of variety become perfectly astounding. This year writes a fashion authority in the New York Times, the gorgeousness of furs and "the trimmings and fur things appear to know no limitation, and it would seem as though the American woman had decided to be as luxurious and comfortably coated as she could possibly manage to be.

Of course all this has to be judged by what the shops are showing and by what the women are buying. But at the sales of the leading furriers there is nothing to indicate the least falling off of fur buying or a tendency to wear handsome, not to mention costly furs.

A furrier who in the course of his business has become used to the "wildness" of words as well as to the value of the products which he was selling said: "Now here is a cheap mink wrap. This is something that we are selling in quantities and which the American woman is showing her preference for. 'And what is the retail price of that?' said I hopefully. It looked so much the sort of thing that would complete my dream of life. He scratched his head and pondered for a brief moment. 'That,' he said, 'would retail for only about $4,000.' So, there is the standard. If you are thinking about furs, though there are other prices on the scale as well as the size which goes and goes until they sound like the figures in a war loan. Fifty thousand dollars paid for an evening wrap of fur has been known to happen and not as a single occurrence either, for it has been repeated often.

Caracul is Popular.

For a standard in fashionable furs there is nothing with more claim to prestige than caracul. In almost all of the known ways in which fur is ever used, this variety makes its appearance, and as far as its youthfulness and becomingness are concerned it has everything in its favor. Then there is another quality about caracul to be whispered among those who still acknowledge some allegiance to the ways of economy. It is that caracul wears have been before. There seems to be no such idea as going out of fashion included in their scheme of existence. But the shorter furs are used to trim all manner of materials. There is a particularly interesting coat of purple homespun trimmed with lavish collars and cuffs of minkskin, which is one of the most attractive showings. It has a sister coat of that rich brownish tan homespun that is trimmed with all the lambs. For one of the most alluring parts of these newer lamb skins is the fact that they do not run into terrifying figures when their prices hang in the balance.

For trimming and for a few coats monkey fur is among the most prominent of the animal skins used in the making of the mink. It has a charming way of falling so loosely and carelessly that constitutes itself a really important asset to the wardrobe of the well-dressed woman. A collar of monkey fur is a matter of delight, be it large or small. And tringes of monkey fur continue to take the place on many of the season's models. A coat of black broadcloth but a simple tight, choker collar of monkey fur that spread away under the ears is a most becoming manner. Its wearer happened to have the softest and curliest of white hair and she had had the good sense to top that with a rose red velvet hat that dropped a trifle at the sides and framed her face with the monkey fur balance, quite artfully.

There is a fur that they call "real monkey fur" which is far heavier and thicker than that which is ordinarily recognized as monkey. It is, as might be imagined from the name, among the more highbrow prices; but for that reason, as things go, it is the more desirable. There is no record that it is any more becoming, but it is more expensive, that is enough for the standards of some of the buyers.

Vaccinating Sugar Cane

The vaccination or inoculation of plants in the battle waged against their diseases will appear as a novel idea to many who have not been thought of the method in connection with the prevention of human and animal maladies only. A measure of success has attended its use by the office of foreign seed and plant introduction, Washington, D. C., reports Popular Mechanics in the evolution of a variety of sugar cane which will be immune to the commoner forms of disease peculiar to the plant and especially the so-called mosaic disease which has recently made its appearance on the sugar plantations. Seedlings from the inoculated specimens will be tested for immunity and if the experiment is the success it is hoped it will be it is thought that a practically disease-proof variety of plant will be evolved.

wonderfully. Indeed, the furriers have a way of lapsing into the sentence "There is no wear out to caracul." Not only in the old standard black is it seen, but in all the lighter shades that are so fashionable just now it is plentifully distributed about the smart gowns and wraps. It is used for trimmings and for linings and for the mailings of whole coats, and wherever it makes its appearance it is with an elegance and grace that can be envied by all of the rest of the fur families.

All of the remainder of the shorter furs, especially in the gray and taupe tones, are among those present when it comes to smart attire. There are the short coats of squirrel and the longer wrap styles of the same skins and any number of trimmings of this gray and emerald becoming fur. Have you noticed that when there is enough of it laid on in many places it assumes all of the softening quality of the fur with much longer hairs? Yes, there is that characteristic to squirrel—that it becomes the majority of women, even adding that portion of charm that one expects to find after all the money which is necessary has been spent upon fur coats or embellishments of any sort.

Black duveton coats and wraps with gray fur trimmings are quite the rage of the moment. The richness and the depth of the black material against the thick whiteness of the fur makes the contrast which becomes the lute of a wrap of this great character. In coats the combination is seen over and over again among the better things. And as for the matter of capes. Well, they are more popular than they ever most interestingly shaped into widely enveloping collar and cuffs.

All in Tones of Gray

All sorts of little baby lambs have cropped up to take their places in the dressing of society. And these are all in tones of gray. Sometimes the hair is very curly and sometimes almost straight while again it is of that pressed variety so well demonstrated by the American broadtail in all of its expressions. In other words if you see some fur trimming or a coat of something that looks like fur then be certain that it is a manner of woolly lamb which has been pressed into the service of fashion.

The pleasant suits that are lamb trimmed are those with a distinctively Russian flavor. You see the whole idea spring from the Russian aspiration and that is the fur of the Russian coats and things in their original state. And the slightest parts of these costumes are the high Russian turbans made entirely of fur and to match the trimmings of the bloused suits or coats. At a smart restaurant there was seen a coat fitted to the waist with tight sleeves and high collars and wide cuffs of this gray lamb. It had a flaring skirt that reached the bottom of the dress where the band of fur was repeated all the way round the circular width of the end of the skirt. There was a high and untrimmed turban worn with it and the effect of the whole thing was something to be gloried in because of its complete originality. Of course baby lamb still holds good as the smartest and by all odds the most expensive of

CONSUMERS HAVE 43 DAYS' SUPPLY OF COAL ON HANDS

Railroads Least, Gas Works Best Prepared Against Emergencies.

TOTAL 25 PER CENT LESS than the Maximum of 63,000,000 Accumulated by Consumers During the War; Rate of Consumption Much Lower Than During Boom in 1918.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—An inventory of coal stocks as of November 1, taken jointly by the Department of Commerce and the Geological Survey shows that there was at that date a total of about 47,400,000 tons of coal in the hands of consumers, or approximately 43 days' supply. This compares with stocks as high as 63,000,000 tons in the past. The estimated average number of days' supplies in various consumers' hands are as follows:

Railways, 29; steel plants and coke industry, 42; other industries, 67; gas works, 87; electric public utility, 54; coal dealers, 47 days.

It must be borne in mind that these are averages and that many individual industries and dealers are far below the average.

The total quantity of soft coal in commercial storage on November 1, is estimated at from 44,000,000 to 50,000,000 net tons, probably about 47,400,000 tons. This does not include coal in the cellars of domestic consumers, concerning which statistics are not available, nor steamship fuel, nor coal on the docks at the head of the Lakes, which is classed as coal in transit.

Consumers' stocks of bituminous coal on November 1 were approximately 16,000,000 tons, or 25 per cent below the maximum of 63,000,000 tons reached during the war.

Because of the business depression the stocks on hand appear larger than they are. At the present low rate of consumption if evenly divided among all users, the stocks would last about 43 days. With business active, the stocks would last 35 days, if evenly divided.

But the stocks are never evenly divided. In every community there are consumers who store virtually no coal. Therefore, as experience has shown, symptoms of a shortage develop in a very few days, if the delivery of coal is stopped.

The present stocks are about the same as those on January 1, 1921. During the past spring and summer stocks declined to 39,000,000 tons. They increased rapidly in October because consumers feared a possible railroad strike. Now that the rail strike has been averted, coal production has fallen sharply to a point below consumption, and today coal is being withdrawn from storage.

FORDS RUN 34 MILES ON GALLON GASOLINE

Start Easy in Coldest Weather—Other Cars Show Proportionate Saving.

A new carburetor which cuts down gasoline consumption of any motor and reduces gasoline bills from one-third to one-half is the proud achievement of the Air-Fuelion Carburetor Co., 335 Madison street, Dayton, Ohio. This remarkable invention not only increases the power of motors from 30 to 50 per cent, but enables every one to run slow on high gear. It also makes it easy to start a Ford or any other car in the coldest weather. You can use the very cheapest grade of gasoline or half gasoline and half kerosene and still get more power and more mileage than you now get from the highest test gasoline. All Ford owners can get as high as 34 miles to a gallon of gasoline. So sure are the manufacturers of the immense saving their new carburetor will make that they offer to send it on 30 days' trial to every car owner. As it can be put on or taken off in a few minutes by anyone all readers of this paper who want to try it should send their name, address and make of car to the manufacturers at once. They also want local agents, to whom they offer exceptionally large profits. Write them today.—Advertisement.

PLANES TO FIND "LOST" FISH

Shoals of Herring Missing in North Sea; May Be Due to Explosions in Mine Fields.

Washington.—Senators are being used as a last measure in an attempt to find fish off the east coast of England, the department of commerce is advised in a report from Trade Commissioner Butler at London.

Absence of the usual shoals of herring in the North sea, the report said, has caused much alarm in fishing towns along the coast, and many and diverse measures are being employed to find the fish which furnish the population of the town a livelihood.

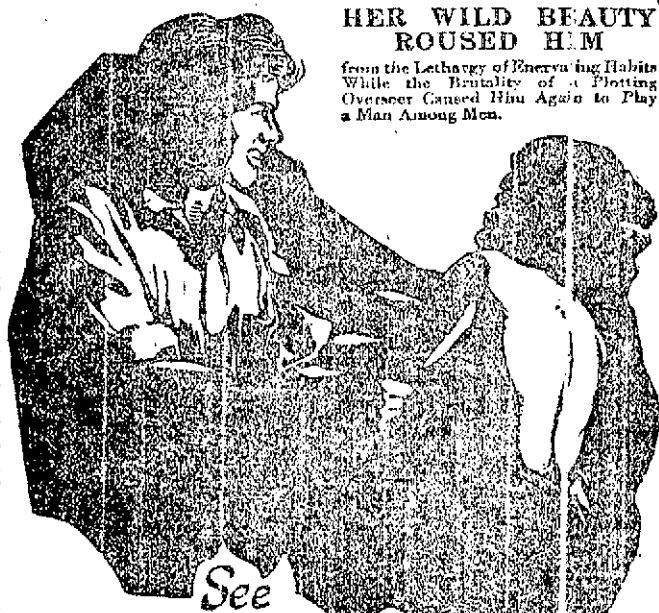

Two reasons have been advanced for the disappearance of the herring, the report notes. One is that explosions in the mine fields in those waters destroyed much of the spawning, and the other that the abnormally warm weather of last winter and last summer kept the herring close to the sea's bottom.
